	Class attendance and participation are mandatory. Disruptive conduct such as; cell phone use, text messaging devices and other electronic communications, as well as discussions between students are strictly prohibited during class time. Two (2) absences or failure to turn in any one assignment results in a no pass grade and student must repeat the class in order to graduate from law school. Refusal to or inability to participate in class because you are unprepared on three separate occasions results in a no pass grade and student must repeat the class in order to graduate from law school. Show up late for class on two occasions and that counts as one absence. All assignments must be typed, spell checked, proof read, stapled, paginated and are due by 6:15 p.m. on date assigned. No exceptions. No emails. Turn assignment in on paper. All citations to authority must comport substantially with the California Style Manual or you will fail the assignment. Electronic research of every kind is prohibited in this class. Any student who uses any form of electronic, internet, or non-hard copy research will fail the class and will be reported to the Dean’s Office for academic dishonesty.
ATTENDANCE:	Under the standards of the Committee of Bar Examiners of the State Bar of California, “regular and punctual attendance” at classes is necessary to satisfy residency requirements. Students should plan to attend all classes. A minimum of 80 percent attendance is required in each course. The instructor will take roll at each class session. A student must attend the entire class session in order to be counted as present for that class session. Students who arrive excessively late, as determined by the instructor, or who leave class before it is dismissed by the instructor, will not be counted as present for that class session. Make-up classes will be scheduled on evenings when classes are not usually held or on weekends. Attendance at make-up classes, while strongly encouraged, is not required. Class sessions which are delayed or canceled because of holidays or policy of Empire College School of Law, and which are re-scheduled for a different date are considered regularly scheduled class sessions, not make-up classes. A student who has exceeded the absence limits outlined will be automatically dropped from the course. A student who is dropped from a course will be required to repeat the course at its next offering in order to meet graduation requirements.
